THE GREAT GENERAL MAKES A MOVE.

On Saturday, Gen. Scott, accompanied by his servants, carriage and baggage under circumstances pointing to an early residence at Washington, arrived in New York from West Point.

We have before intimated that President Lincoln has found the services of the old general, as a military adviser, not to be lightly dispensed with, and the patriotic inclinations of Gen. Scott prompt him to accept almost any honorable position near the President, in which his long military experience may be of benefit to the country.

Gen. Scott may or may not accept any office under the Government. That his talents will command the highest of positions, few will doubt, but his age and personal infirmities form strong reasons, on his own part, for refraining from the cares of office, and he would prefer, individually, to remain free. But the welfare of the country will overcome personal preferences of the old General, and we may be sure to find him ready whenever and however he can best serve the good cause. Our people will hail this movement of the old General with satisfaction, and feel hereafter greater confidence in the movement of our arms, when directed by the wise deliverance of the President and Gen. Scott.

WILL HE RESIGN OR BE EXPELLED?

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times writes:

THE CASE OF SENATOR SIMMONS.—The Simmons matter is yet a subject of much discussion. It is this evening stated that a resolution of expulsion will be introduced in the Senate in a few days, and adopted. The Senators, while keenly regretting the course of their venerable associate, feel it a duty which they owe to themselves and the country to stamp with their prompt disapprobation the transactions in which he, by his own acknowledgement, been engaged.—Although at first inclined to speak lightly of his conduct, and pronounce it altogether proper, he is now, it is said, very much cast down, and convinced that he has made a great mistake.—The case is a sad one in every respect.

The Providence Press publishes the above extract and follows it with the annexed remarks, in which it may be unnecessary to say we thoroughly agree. This last infamous act which has come to sight only forms part and parcel of one of the most infamously corrupt, political lives ever led in this country.

SENATOR SIMMONS.—If the Sanitary Commission can only take as good care of the soldiers as Simmons does—"to increase his store"—the poor soldiers will fare well. SIMMONS is our black spot—we hope he will soon be wiped out.

MORE AID FOR THE SANITARY COMMISSION.—We make room for the following acknowledgment from Major Cranston with much pleasure.

be scrutinized. Let there be a thorough overhauling of the Senator's conduct in an official capacity during the past four years, that we may know who are speculating in the woes of our unhappy country. Said John P. Hale in this Senate the other day: "I declare upon my responsibility as a Senator of the United States, that the liberties of this country are in greater danger to-day from the corruptions and from the profligacy practiced in the various departments of the government, than they are from the opposition in the field."

Let Senators now come forward and clear their togas of the accursed thing. Let them cast out the Achans and all their numerous family. And let us hope, moreover, that all contracts may hereafter be so awarded that no person, be he Senator or member of the Lobby, can realize immense fortunes without labor and without risk.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS.

FINE ENGRAVINGS.—We have received from Mr. John H. Bufford's celebrated Lithographic and Printing Publishing House, No. 314 Washington Street Boston; a very fine bust portrait of Maj. Gen. A. E. Burnside of R. I. It is printed on India paper 22 by 28 inches, price $1.

This is the most accurate and beautiful likeness we have seen of this noble General, who is now so gallantly leading to victory the brave sons of Rhode Island, who have gone to defend their country's flag from a rebel foe.

Mr. J. H. Bufford has also published bust portraits of other distinguished persons—war maps, views, &c. National miniature portraits, card photographs of Generals and others, and "parlor gems," something new for photograph albums, these executed in the "higher style of art," and will be published in a few days, they consist of nineteen different subjects, and when completed will be one of the finest collections of miniature pictures published since the commencement of the Great Rebellion.

We would invite the attention of our readers to the very large and extensive collection of prints and all kind of Lithographic work done at this establishment, which cannot be excelled by any similar house in the country.

WOUNDED AND SICK SOLDIERS.—It will be gratifying to those who contributed so liberally towards the supplies for the sick and wounded before Richmond, to know that large number of the boxes have reached their destination, and their contents are available for the sufferers from the battle of Thursday and Friday. If twenty northern cities had contributed what is due to New-York, there could scarcely have been found in the hospital a want.

In every thing regarding the War, New-York and Rhode Island come out nobly—EXCEPT SENATOR SIMMONS.—If the Sanitary Commission can only take as good care of the soldiers as Simmons does—"to increase his store"—the poor soldiers will fare well. SIMMONS is our black spot—we hope he will soon be wiped out.

MORE AID FOR THE SANITARY COMMISSION.—We make room for the following acknowledgment from Major Cranston with much pleasure.

New-York, June 30, 1862.

I acknowledge the receipt of the following, in addition to those previously received in aid of our sick and wounded soldiers:—

Emmanuel Church, $169.27.
Thomas R. Hazard, 10.00.
$119.27.
Previously acknowledged, $805.58
1014.86.

PERSONAL.—Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, ex-President of the United States is in this city, stopping at the Ocean House.

Halleck's Army becoming Abolitionized.—A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, writing from Luke, Miss., one of the places held by Gen. Halleck, says:

The Army of the West is daily becoming abolitionized. Two-thirds of the army are favorable to confiscation, emancipation, and damnation to all who have acted as authors or aids and abettors of the great rebellion. The ignorance and circulation of such sentiments is absolutely alarming, but the men feel and speak from experience. There are many reasons for this state of affairs, but I will not mention a fact at present. Private letters from our soldiers, in due time, will contain information on this subject."

Gen. Scott's Opinions.—A correspondent of the Poughkeepsie Press gives an account of an interview with Gen. Scott, in which the old veteran in response to a remark that there had been some splendid fighting before Richmond, replied:—

"Yes, there has been some severe fighting; I hope there will be no more of it." We remarked that McClellan was severely censured in some quarters for his apparently slow movements; to which the General immediately replied: "McClellan is doing well. He will take Richmond. He is moving as rapidly as is prudent."

Two new gunboats are now building at St. Louis, named the Choctaw and Fort Henry. The former is to have a turret similar to that of the Monitor, and will be under the command of Lieut. Winslow. The latter will be three hundred feet long, and pierced for twenty-two guns. Lieut. Hull, Naval Constructor Hart, and Engineer Shaw have arrived at St. Louis to superintend the construction of these additional gunboats.

On the 13th instant there were in the hospitals in the around Washington, five thousand two hundred and three sick and wounded soldiers, of whom one thousand and nine hundred and ten belonged to New York State regiments.

BURNSIDE'S EXPEDITION.

From the Fourth Regiment.

BEAUFORT, N. C. June 22, 1862.

MY DEAR —

We have just returned from "having a good time," although it lasted nearly all the while we were absent—I mean the sword presentation."

Our Regiment, with the Fifth, took three days' provision in haversack, went on board two small steamers that ply from here to Newbern, and have just got back again to Beaufort. The presentation took place opposite Newbern, across the river, and was followed by a review, which was just the neatest and best conducted review, I ever saw. Fourteen thousand paid the marching salute, and I wish that you could have seen them pass, for it was a magnificent spectacle. The H. L. Fourth and Fifth, had the honor of escorting our noble General-in-chief upon the field; and when we arrived, the whole army was present on one vast plain. There was no confusion, every man was in his place, and they stood like statues—motionless, as we escorted General Burnside to the stand, where the presentation took place, and short and good speeches were made, and such cheers as rang out upon the air you never heard.

After this ceremony was completed, and immediately too, the whole mass faced by the rear rank, marched a short distance to the rear, deployed column, wheeled by companies into line, and passed in review connectedly, no waiting for any one, no confusion, twenty regiments marching one after another just like clock work. It was a splendid sight. I have seen quite a number of reviews, at which there was always more or less of waiting for somebody, or something, nobody seemed to know who or what, and a good deal of "dashing of Aida," but here was nothing of the kind. I fully believe, this is a noble little army. Col. Tow handled his Regiment with the Fifth—he was in command of both—well, now we were very highly complimented by the General. The Colonel stands higher to-day with his Regiment, and his fellow Officers, than ever before.

You have no idea of the mischief being wrought by row in this Department—Whiskey is the bane of the army. God only knows how much more would have been accomplished in this war, if it had not been for this. And it is not the men, but the officers upon whom its worst effects are shown. It is whiskey, whiskey, every where. It matters not whether we go on matters of pleasure, or those of the most serious character, the bottle must go too. It is one vast grecce, and woe to him who does not float with the stream.

Gov. Stanley has gone to Washington, and I hear that the schools are to be opened again. In strange contrast with his policy, as avowed at the introduction of the next week, the general order promulgating the new article of war, will be issued to the troops on the 1st of August.

One fine schooner has arrived, and is unloading. It is a very agreeable present, and comes in good time, as it is pretty hot weather.

One of the Regiments passing in review the other day, had a Band, who, as they came up to the stand, struck up "John Brown's body lies moulderin' in the grave."

Hoping that this matter of Col. Tew will be soon all right,

I am Yours &c.,

B. J. Jr.

[By report from Washington, it appears that this matter of Col. Tew is very soon all "wrong!" For the second time has Col. Tew been required to submit, to what in military practice is equivalent to a discharge in dishonor. We have been aware, ever since the promotion of Gen. Rodman, that the most revolting means were industriously employed, by ~~various~~ ^{various} individuals, to effect this result. But the very nature of the efforts led us to believe that they would wholly fail of their infamous aim. We had too much confidence in Gov. Sprague, to believe for a moment, that such a vile plot could succeed. It seems, however, that the confidence was not justified by the facts. The almost universal wish of Newport, at the first "jumping," was that Major Tew should resign and come home, where he is beloved and respected by his fellow citizens, but only to cause him to meet a repetition of ill usage. There is a general expression of indignation upon our streets, upon the subject—

The following appears in the New Orleans papers:

IN APPEAL TO EVERETT'S OTHER SOLDIER.

We turn to you in mute agony! Behold our wrongs! Fathers! husbands! brothers!

sons! we know these bitter burning wrongs will be fully avenged—never did Southern women appeal in vain for protection from insult! But for the sake of our sisters throughout the South, with tears we implore you not to surrender your cities, "in consideration of the defenceless women and children!" Do not leave your women to the mercy of the merciless foe! Would it not have been better for New Orleans to have been laid in ruins, and we buried up beneath the mass than that we should be subjected to these untold sufferings? Is life so precious a boon that, for the protection of it, no sacrifice is too great? Ah! no! sh! no! Rather let us die with you, oh, our fathers! Rather, like Virginia, lay your own swords into our breasts, saying, "This is all we can give you, daughters."

The following appears in the New Orleans papers:

TO HORSE OWNERS.

DE. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT FOR HORSES is unrivaled by any, and in all cases of Lameness, arising from Sprains, Bruises & Wrapping, its effect is magical and certain. Harness or Saddle Gait, Scratches, Hangs, &c. will also cure speedily. Spain and Ringbone may easily be prevented and cured in their first stages, but confirmed cases are beyond the possibility of a medical cure. No case of the kind, however, is so desperate or hopeless but it may be alleviated by this Liniment and its faithful application will always remove the lameness, and enable the horse to travel with comparative ease.

Every horse owner should have this remedy at hand, for it is not only the first appearance of lameness will effectively prevent those formidable diseases mentioned which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless.

GO WITH HIS HEAD.

To the Editor of the Savannah Republic-

can—Seeing your spirited notice in this morning's paper of the offer of a noble Mississippi to give a reward of $10,000 for the infamous Butler's head, can you not suggest through your valuable journal, the propriety of every woman in our Confederacy contributing her mite to triple the sum, for a contribution dear to the insulted honor of our country women, one and all?

Respectfully, A SAVANNAH WOMAN.

NO ACCURATE INFORMATION

FROM THE PRINCIPAL—NOTHING RECEIVED INDICATIVE OF SERIOUS DISASTER.

—Said Pacha drink nothing but Nil-water. There many air-tight cases filled with that fluid have lately arrived at Toulon, and been forwarded to England for his use. While in Paris he gave a big dinner to the Emperor and Empress. The plates were gold, the table was a huge silver salver, and the napkins were embroidered with diamonds. The viands were cooked in the Egyptian style—pillau and rice.

—On the 13th instant there were in the hospitals in the around Washington, five thousand two hundred and three sick and wounded soldiers, of whom one thousand and nine hundred and ten belonged to New York State regiments.

The Sanitary Commission and the Government.

We are permitted to publish the following extract from a letter recently received, showing what duties in the present crisis have been accepted by the Sanitary Commission, which the public may feel assured they will earnestly fulfil:—

HEADQUARTERS OF THE SANITARY COMMISSION, WHITE HOUSE, PANAMAKEY RIVER, June 20th, 1862.

I have written so much about the labors of the Sanitary Commission, and your sympathies are so fully enlisted in the complete success of its benevolent designs, that I am sure you will be glad to hear that a species of treaty has just been concluded between it and the new Medical Inspector General, by which its duties are more definitely defined. By virtue of this arrangement, the Commission is to take 1st—All badly wounded men, all amputations and compound fractures, and those who ought not to travel at present, board the Knickerbocker or Saint Mark, and keep them in the river until they can be safely moved. It engages to expend a sum not to exceed $10,000 on the means of carrying out this first item.

2nd—It engages to receive at Fortress Monroe 3000 of other bad cases able to bear transportation, whenever the battle occurs, and 4500 within 12 days of it, and to transport them to New York, or Washington or elsewhere.

Thus you see the Commission gains certainty, that the most suffering cases shall be under its own eye and care; the rest, the slightly wounded, or those so wounded as to be able to help themselves are all that are left to the Government.

The country may rest assured that whenever the great battle occurs, provision is made for those who must suffer most, and the Commission feels that the country will provide, that it shall at least not fall short in its engagement. This enables us to contemplate a great battle, with less of a right-mere feeling than we have had whilst there was nothing to expect but a repetition of past scenes.

The best way, it seems to me, to end this war, would be to send up balloons filled with truth to scatter down among the Southern troops and people. I go as much as possible among the wounded prisoners, that I may judge for myself how they feel. I find that they are a good deal more cheerful than I expected. I never thought of this, "I never knew the truth." "If I could go home I could change the feelings of half my country. One man told me he had never fired his gun. They look ashamed or rather shy, and are unwilling to catch your eye, but if you make any way with them you are almost sure to find a testis in their eye which at first he rather veiled, "if he had an appetite?" "All" he said "more than I should have."

THE BUTLER WOMAN ORDER.

Governor Moore of Louisiana, has issued a proclamation, in relation to this famous order, in the course of which he says:—

sacked and inhuman atrocities committed upon the women of a conquered town, but, in no instance, in modern times, at least, without the brutal ravishers suffering coulpe punishment from the hands of their own commanders. It was reserved for a Federal General to invite his soldiers to the perpetration of outrages at the mention of which the blood regouts in horror to quicken the impulse of their sensual instincts, by the suggestion of transparent excuses for their gratification, and to add to an injury already well merited these crowning tides of a panderer to lust and a desecration of virtue.

Organize, then, quickly and efficiently. If your enemy attempts to proceed into the interior, let his pathway be marked by his blood. It is your honor that you have to defend. It is the jewel of your hearts, the chastity of your women, you have to guard. Let that thought animate your breasts, nerve your arms, quicken your energies and inspire your resolution. Strike home to the heart of your soul the blow that rids your country of the presence. If needed, let his blood moisten your own grave. It will rise up before your children as a perpetual monument of a race whom it will teach to hate now and forever."
